ABOUT THE BOOK

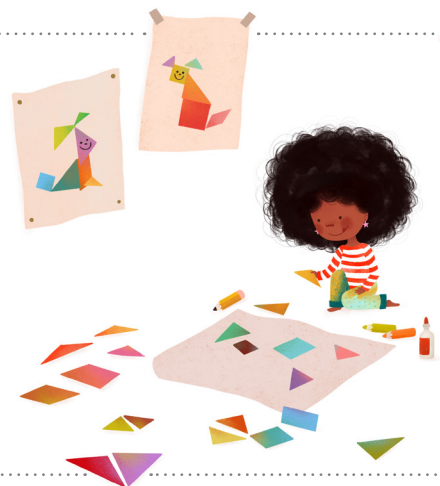

Ruby is a little girl with a sense of curiosity and enthusiasm that's too big to contain! Ruby is always busy — she loves to make things, watch things grow and figure out how things work, with her dog Teddy by her side. And Ruby has lots of ideas about what she wants to be: maybe an animal conservationist? Or an archaeologist? She's great at excavating (i.e. digging holes). Or maybe an inventor? She's already invented a book with smells instead of words (so dogs can read it) and a time machine (the dinosaurs did have feathers after all, and the future is looking wild).

This is Ruby, and this is her world!

KEEP THE CONVERSATION GOING

Here are some ideas, activities and questions to consider after you've read the book:

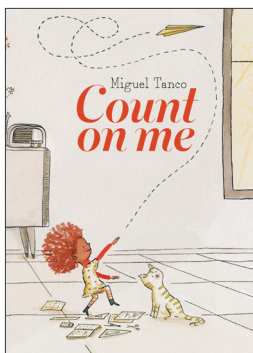

- What would a tour of your room look like?
- Which of Ruby's inventions is your favorite?
- What are some of things you want to do and make and be?
