About the Book

One day, Daddy Rat announces to his baby rats that he'll be taking them to the zoo . . . but only if they're good, which means no talking about poo! And yet, before the family can even leave the house, the two rascally siblings can't help but wonder . . . what sort of poo would an astronaut do? Shiny, silver, space-age poo! Rocket-powered, weightless poo, and it spins round and round like a planet does, too! Head chefs, balloon sellers, blue whales . . . everyone and everything must have a unique poo, and the siblings simply have to stop and imagine each and every one (much to the chagrin of Daddy Rat, who is getting increasingly irritated with all the poo talk). Once the rats finally reach the zoo, things escalate, because of course each and every animal in the zoo must do a special kind of poo! Finally, Daddy Rat has had enough and is forced to sit down and explain the facts to his curious kids. And when he thinks he may have gotten through to his youngsters, he encounters a surprising (and smelly) twist which will have little rats everywhere laughing out loud!

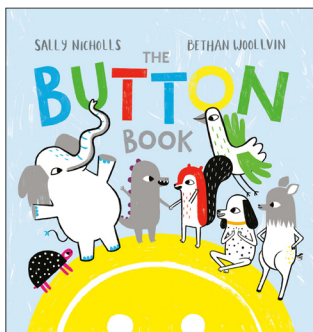

Keep the Conversation Going

Here are some ideas, activities and questions to consider after you've read the book:

- Who is your favorite person? Design the perfect poo for them! Would it be big or small? What color would it be? What shape? Poo-sonalize it with different sorts of decorations.
- Bake chocolate cupcakes with chocolate frosting swirled for poo-fection!

Activity

Let's play a memory game! With the help of an adult, cut out each of the images below. See if you can match each character to the poo that they do. Then flip the images so that you don't see any of the artwork.

1. To play by yourself, flip two cards at a time to see if the poo matches the character. Try to make as many matches as you can in as few turns as possible!
2. To play with others, flip two cards at a time to see if you get a match. If you do, take the two cards out of play and keep going. If you don't, it's the next person's turn. The one with the most matches at the end is the winner.
